SFC CLERK RECORDED 04/14/2014 11:02/4/10 0589038 018

IV. Approval of the Agenda

Mr. Levant congratulated the chair on her appointment to the magistrate bench. Chair Bevacqua-Young said she will be sworn in before December 9th. She received a round of applause from the committee.

Upon motion by Mr. Levant and second by Mr. De Mella the agenda was unanimously approved.

V. Matters from the Council

- A. Follow-up from Previous Meetings
- B. Other Matters from the Councilors

Mr. Levant said he had requested information on the top ten CADDy providers.

Mr. Starke noted that since Ms. Lis' contract has not yet gone through the meeting need not be as long. Mr. Sanchez said the delay stems from a procurement issue. When the contract was created there was no cost breakdown. Once that was remedied the timeline had changed and a new timeline is being provided.

Mr. Starke asked about the letter from the Santa Fe Prevention Alliance and Mr. Sanchez distributed copies. [Exhibit 1] Mr. Starke also asked about the server training task force and Chair Bevacqua-Young said she has not talked with Jennifer Anderson recently and suggested another committee member should follow up on that since she is leaving the committee. She noted a new chair will have to be elected.

In response to a further question from Mr. Starke, Mr. Sanchez said $5 CADDy rides would have to go before the County Commission. That could be presented at a December meeting.

VI. Information Items

- A. Traffic Safety Bureau DWI Campaign

Robert Archuleta, director of the Traffic Safety Division for the New Mexico Department of Transportation said the division is responsible for guardrails, roads, infrastructure, bridges, etc. as well as seat belts, texting, child seats, and impaired driving in general. They are in charge of the ignition interlock indigence program. They fund approximately 93 law enforcement agencies throughout the state, helping with checkpoints, saturation patrols, and Click it or Ticket campaigns. They underwrite salaries of various entities and fund the Community DWI programs. Franklin Garcia was scheduled to provide the presentation but had another engagement.

Regarding the media campaigns, Mr. Archuleta said they contract with two firms, one as a creative consultant and one to place the ads. The "You drink, you drive, you lose" campaign is being phased out and replaced by the ENDWI and he showed a number of television spots. The intent is to generate buzz. The target population is males 18 to 35 years old. They also use billboards, vehicle wraps, bumper stickers, bracelets, t-shirts, sunshades, bandaids, key chains, videos and apps.

Mr. Archuleta touched on the safe ride programs throughout the state. Additionally, people can consult the website for more information on laws. The free, educational app for iPhone or android includes games and numbers of safe rides and designated drivers as well as the number to report drunk drivers. It gives tips to calculate blood alcohol.

He introduced a new website entitled MyInstead through which people can apply for funding for underage drinking prevention via a new RFP. There is a video contest with prizes. He noted that New Mexico has the worst record for very young drinkers.

Mr. Levant pointed out that there is money in the budget for public awareness. Mr. Archuleta said all of their material is free and he encouraged collaboration.

Mr. Mowen said the fear tactics of the ads are fine but it is important to show a solution to the problem He characterized the app as fantastic. Mr. Archuleta said NHITSA is a primary funder and they have a great deal of discretion over their campaigns.

Mr. Levant asked if the app could be used as a condition of probation. Ms. Tafoya said one of the conditions is not to drink, so the app would be superfluous. She recommended that this information be sent to PPOs.

Mr. Levant commended the DOT for their help with the checkpoints. Mr. Archuleta said they just allocated $2.3 million for enforcement overtime, along with $300,000 for Click it or Ticket, $400,000 for the Hundred Days and Nights of Summer, and $500,000 for seat belts and child seats.

B. Santa Fe Public Schools – Prevention Report

Shelley Mann-Lev, Prevention Coordinator for the Santa Fe Public Schools, gave a power point presentation outlining their activities as a contractor for the Santa Fe County DWI Program. [Exhibit 2] The SFPS has a dual emphasis – early initiation of drinking and DWI at the community at large. She introduced Phil Lucero, Student Wellness Action Team Coordinator and Teresa Baca, the new director of Student Wellness for the schools.

Ms. Mann-Lev outlined the demographics of the public schools, highlighting there are nearly 14,000 students, three high schools, three middle schools, three K-8 schools and 16 elementary schools. Many students are living in poverty and many do not speak English as a first language. Three-quarters of the students are eligible for reduced price lunches. Santa Fe's wealth accentuates the disparities.

She cited two sources of information: the Youth Risk and Resiliency Survey (YRRS) and the spring survey of all 7th and 9th graders. She showed a graph indicating a slight downturn in drinking and binge drinking.

Ms. Mann-Lev reviewed the guiding principles, and project goals and strategies. Substance abuse prevention curriculum is provided to all 4th to 6th graders. She noted that due to delays in contract completion they were unable to fulfill all their goals. The curriculum is called Life Skills Training Plus (LST+) and is used widely throughout the country. It focuses on problem solving, social skills and drug resistance skills. She reviewed how many students and teachers were reached. Additionally, peer education programs trains students in assertiveness training.

REC'D CLEAN RECORDED 8/14/2013

Noting that his son is unaware of the peer programs. Cpl. Segura asked how kids find out about what is going on. Mr. Lucero said the teachers know about them and there are posters prominently displayed. Cpl. Segura suggested targeting athletes and Ms. Mann-Lev said they have done that in the past. She said the SWAT teams are like clubs. Mr. Lucero said they are working on radio shows.

Mr. Levant disputed that the LST+ has the 90 percent success rate it claims and that it serves the demographics of Santa Fe County. He recommended the Too Good for Drugs program which has been tested with Spanish speaking populations. Ms. Mann-Lev stated they considered that program and the teachers felt it was not appropriate for this community LST+ is the most widely used curriculum and has been tested widely. She added they have enhanced the program. She said she likes the Second Step program which until recently was only violence prevention. She said all the programs cost about $25,000 per grade if facilitators are used.

Ms. Freilich advocated providing lots of activities and options for kids.

C. Coordinator's Report

Mr. Sanchez offered the following:

- The SBIRT program has started and received positive feedback from participants. Further updates will be provided.
- The grant agreement for a Clerk with the Sheriff's Office has been gone through and is pending approval by the BCC.
- A public awareness campaign is underway [Exhibits 3 & 4] to acquaint people with the consequences of DWI
- A community-wide meeting is to be held December 4th at the district court from 9:00 to 4:00. Law enforcement, judiciary and other stakeholders will be involved. The plan is to hold the meetings quarterly. Ms. Freilich suggested getting the business community involved and Mr. Sanchez said Mr. Olsen is working with the Restaurant Association.
- Business cards are available to committee members.

D. Status Update

Mr. Starke said the DWI plan is nearly ready. The next step is to review last year's progress on the goals. The urgency now is getting Ms. Lis on board with her contract. Mr. Sanchez noted that the 2012 strategic plan was included in the packet for review.

VII. Miscellaneous

A. Agenda Items for Next Meeting

Election of a new chair will be necessary. Ms. Mann-Lev asked there be a response to the SFPA letter.

VIII. Matters from the Public

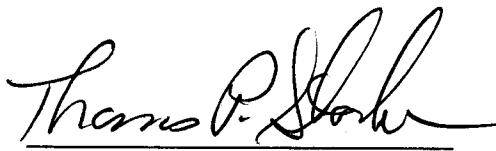

Ms. Freilich pointed out the City is over-trimming the greenery on Zia Road, causing it to become a speedway. She is speaking to the Mayor and council members about this.

Ms. Wooldrich asked if there were going to be forums for the mayoral election wherein the candidates could be quizzed on the stance and ideas on DWI.

IX. Adjournment

This meeting was declared adjourned at approximately 10:32 a.m.

Thank you for the opportunity for the Santa Fe Prevention Alliance to give a presentation on the impact of Alcohol Outlet Density in Santa Fe County at your August 15th meeting. Given the importance of this issue to Santa Fe County and to our state, we appreciated the time the Council took to educate your members.

We would like to request that the Santa Fe County DWI Planning Council engage community leaders to address alcohol outlet density in Santa Fe County. Specifically we suggest that the Planning Council as a whole or several representatives meet with Jennifer Anderson, Alcohol and Gaming Division Director, to share your concerns about alcohol outlet density in Santa Fe County. In addition, we would also request that the DWI Planning Council help with efforts to restrict alcohol outlet expansion in Santa Fe County by engaging the County Commission and other key stakeholders in a manner that the Council considers appropriate. The Santa Fe Prevention Alliance would be pleased to support your efforts in any way that we are able to do so.

Thank you for your consideration.

Regards,

Shelley Mann-Lev
